SHOT WIFE AND HIMSELF

P. C. Edwards, formerly of Richmond, shot his wife and himself and tried to kill their little daughter at a boarding house kept by the woman in Norfolk yesterday afternoon. Edwards died last night.

The cause of the terrible affair is unknown, but it is believed that an unsuccessful attempt to reconcile his wife, with whom he has not lived for some time, is the reason. Mrs. Edwards has been supporting herself by taking in boarders. About two weeks ago her husband went to Norfolk from Richmond. Both the man and the woman were wounded in the back of the head and her condition is regarded as critical. Mrs. Edwards had just returned from shopping and as she entered her front door with Mrs. Quigley, who had engaged board with her yesterday morning, she was met by her husband, who drew a pistol from his hip pocket and fired, the ball entering her head just behind and under the ear. His little daughter, who was standing in the hall and had run to meet her mother, when the pistol shot frightened her and she started to the front door to call for help. Edwards then pointed the pistol at the little girl and pulled the trigger, but the bullet went wild and missed her. Mrs. Quigley jumped out of the front window and gave the alarm. In the meantime Edwards had shot himself.

The couple were conveyed to a hospital. The woman may recover, but Edwards wound proved fatal. Mrs. Edwards is 29 years old and her husband 65. They had been married about 10 years. Edward came originally from King William county and was a Confederate soldier and well off.

SENSATIONAL CHARGES.

Dr. George P. Norton declared yesterday to the executive committee of the Burbank Hospital, at Fitchburg, Mass., which is investigating the astounding charges against its conduct, that he believed Mrs. Ellen Hessel, mother of Mrs. Alfred I. Case, did not die in the Burbank Hospital from natural causes.

That patients suffering from incurable maladies were actually given overdoses of morphine poison which hastened death; that certain nurses had given patients overdoses of morphine in order that they might not be disturbed in their meetings with visitors and male hospital employees; that a drug cabinet stood open where the attendants could secure these drugs at their pleasure; that one woman, at least, was drugged to death, and that patients were habitually neglected, one even being strangled in a chair when she was dying, are some of the startling charges made against the conduct of Burbank Hospital.

DIED AT 115 YEARS.

Henderson Clemens, known to be the oldest man in West Virginia, and probably the oldest man in the United States, died yesterday at the home of his grandson, Clark Clemens, near Point Pleasant, Mason county, aged 115. He was strong and hearty to the time of his death, when he fell by the roadside on his way home from the grocery store, and died a few minutes later. His father and mother are said to have been the first couple married west of the Blue Ridge Mountains in Virginia. His mother died at 120, his wife at 101. He was one of first settlers of the Ohio valley and went to West Virginia from Virginia at the age of 18. He has 70 grandchildren, 131 great-grandchildren, and 19 great-great-grandchildren. He never tasted liquor or tobacco in his life.

THREATENED TO SHOOT

Mrs. Atherton testified in Edinburgh yesterday in the cross suit for divorce filed by John Alexander Sirling against his wife, who was Clara Elizabeth Taylor, an American show girl before her marriage, and caused a sensation in the court by the statement that Mrs. Sirling had once purchased a revolver and declared she would shoot Lord Northland, named as co-defendant by Mr. Sirling, unless he married her.

"I am not going to be treated in the same way you have been," Mrs. Atherton declared Mrs. Sirling said to her. This was a reference to Captain Yarde-Biller, who refused to marry Mrs. A. her son after her divorce, in which he was co-defendant.

COLLEGE GIRL HIDES LOVER

Lulu Johnson, a 19-year-old sophomore in the Dixon College at Dixon, Ill., concealed under her bed for three nights John Hayes, a fugitive from the police. Hayes was the girl's sweetheart and was wanted for the alleged larceny of $200 from a friend in Sterling. The first clue which resulted in the turning up of Hayes came when the police discovered that Miss Johnson had bought food and carried it to her room. Her room was entered and the girl was found calmly embroidering, and the men were about to depart when one curious policeman looked under the bed and discovered Hayes.
